SECRET ( ) Leaflet on AEDOGMA-1

Everyone knows the Ukrainian song, "The Cossacks Are Having a High Time on the Banks of the Danube", but not everyone knows that many a Cossack lives it up on the banks of the Isar. And they do it well and often and usually in the company of Ukrainian and German girls.

Many fiery Cossacks have merry times in Munich. Who knows how often such a good Cossack such as Dr. VINTOMYAK has tried to get married in Vienna, how many adventures such men as MAKOVICHENKO, MANYAK (who is in love with a nice lady tavern owner) MIKOLA LEVITSKY, STADNIV, KASHUBA, KOTOROWSKI, SALAK, PRUDNIENKO, or RUJIKO?

But the records in these matters are held by the men of the cloth. All Munich is amused by the way that the dignified Catholic priest, LESKOVICH, visits the house mother of the children at the Ukrainian week-end school each Saturday evening, and how he drives her home. Some trips take longer than others. . . .

What is good for a Catholic priest is even better for an Orthodox man of the cloth. All Munich laughs about the visit of two pretty Parisiennes to the apartment of AEDOGMA-1. For two weeks they held dancing and "party" evenings in his apartment. Thirty or more persons took part. (Notes [ ] set forth a large number of names of persons, some of whom were not at the parties. Other names are deliberately misspelled.) The dances often lasted until 1000 in the morning. All the wine cellar of AEDOGMA-1 was consumed. There was much fun. When AEDOGMA-1 returned from Paris, there was nothing for him to do but participate and then depart Munich as soon as possible. He will probably not come back to Munich until Munich has forgotten his merry evenings. Or will he really go to Canada, as he has planned, to find consolation with his first wife?
